

STOUT - HEARTED
THE STORY
OF
STEPHEN MONTAGUE STOUT

IRMA WALTER

BOOK LAUNCH – Irma Walter

Wednesday 1 April

10.00 – 11.00am

Stephen Montague Stout was one of nearly ten thousand male convicts brought to WA. Outspoken and opinionated, Stout could have fled the colony as soon as he was able, like so many other ex-convicts. Instead, he became a teacher, a leading photographer, and opened the first newspaper in Geraldton.

Irma Walter is an ex-teacher living in the South-West of WA. An interest in local history led to her fascination with Stephen Montague Stout, an important figure in the local history of Geraldton, where she spent her childhood. Irma is proud to acknowledge her own convict ancestry. The publisher is Hesperian Press.

Join us at the Geraldton Regional Library, Marine Terrace, Geraldton.

Morning tea provided. RSVP: 31 March, 9956 6659 or
